

Hire Someone and Inspire Possibilities

(DESIGNED FOR EMPLOYERS)

WEBINAR

Hiring People with diversibilities makes Good Business cents.

Our workplaces are also becoming more diverse. People from many different cultural backgrounds and people with disabilities have been entering the labour market. Employers have realized that they must tap into the skills of all potential workers and learn to train and supervise employees with different characteristics.

This session offers strategies and practical information, it is not meant to be a “how to” manual. The use of the information and strategies contained in this module will depend on the individual’s circumstances and the requirements of the job. Not every person with a disability will require accommodations or need the types of assistance outlined in this session. As you learn to use this information, decisions about the kind of assistance people that need will become easier to make.

This session is designed to assist employers to include workers with disabilities in their workplaces. It is meant to provide employers and their employees with practical information and strategies on ways to successfully hire, train and support workers with disabilities.
