

Professional Development & Upgrading Your Skills for the Workplace

Personal Learning Pathways, Open Badges and Micro-credentials

It can be difficult to come from another country and build a new career. Your foreign qualifications and experience are often not fully recognized. An exciting new educational technology is now emerging that can help immigrants more effectively demonstrate their knowledge and skills and fill their learning gaps by following modular, personalized learning paths toward career goals.

Join this session and learn:

How Open Badges work;
How to find free micro-credential courses; and why upskilling is so important to find employment.
